◆◆◆ LAKEVIEW LACONICS ◆◆◆

Eugene Ely, the aviator killed last week at Macon, Ga., was a former resident of Lakeview, and the many friends that he made during the time that he was here running the auto line between Alturas and Lakeview and between here and Klamath in connection with the W. L. Clapp Auto line, will mourn his death as a friend and a fearless driver, who had graduated from the auto to the winged flyer.

J. H. Greene has been wearing the marshal's star during the absence of Marshal Brown on business.

John Partin of Summer Lake was in town last week, where he had business with the land office, and secured about thirty-three acres adjoining his ranch in Summer Lake Valley.

A large delegation of Adel people were in town this week attending the trial of Bigo Archie, most of whom were witnesses in the case.

General Manager T. F. Dunaway of the N.-C.-O. railway, A. S. Howe and W. A. Dunaway of Reno were Sunday visitors here, looking over the railroad situation, and making arrangements for the completion of that line into town next month. The gentlemen were well pleased with the progress that has been made on the grading between here and Sugar Loaf Hill, where the rails are already laid.

George H. Newcombe, the blacksmith at Valley Falls, was in town, and tried to get a warrant for the arrest of C. W. E. Jennings of that place for striking him with a gun across the head. The weapon was discharged during the assault made by Jennings, though the district attorney would not sign the papers until other witnesses had been examined. Mrs. Stone, the wife of the photographer, testified in behalf of Jennings.

William Proudfoot, the United States livestock inspector, has made arrangements to dip all the cattle in Lake county at Silver, Summer and Chewaucan valleys, where large vats have been erected to handle thousands of head of stock. Mr. Proudfoot will personally superintend the dipping process and inspect the cattle as they are brought in, thus hoping to be able to raise the embargo against Lake and Klamath county cattle at an early date.

Captain O. C. Applegate's historical resume of the injustice of Christmas Lake as a name for the fine valley of that designation meets with the approval of many residents of Lake county, and it is hoped that "Pleasant Valley" will be the name from now on.

BIG ITALIAN NAVAL BASE PLANNED FOR TORBUK CITY

Has Harbor, Between Malta and Alexandria, One of the Best Strategic Positions Available on the Mediterranean Sea

United Press Service

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Italy will establish a great naval base at Tobruk, according to information reaching the foreign office here today.

Tobruk, located between Malta and Alexandria, and possessed of a fine harbor, has one of the best strategic positions on the Mediterranean.

Some authorities maintain that in a war between England and Italy the great naval bases of Malta and Alexandria will be rendered practically useless by Italy's new station.

This is said to be the real reason why the Italian troops were rushed to the Cyrenaican port five days in advance of the general expedition despatched to Tripoli. Italy was taking no chances on losing such a prize.

IS MARRIAGE A FAILURE

A REST CURE

Matrimony is described by a prominent writer as being a "rest cure." Be that as it may, if you want to see one of the brightest and most refined comedies of the year, don't fail to witness the production of "Is Marriage a Failure?" to be given at Houston's Opera House, October 30 and 31.

Someone said that people wanted to laugh, even if they didn't know what they were laughing at. This play is said to be one of the best laugh provokers of the present time. As its title indicates, the story is written around this question, and although it greatly amuses, the plot is still a sensible one. J. G. & Glen Harper, Inc., have organized an unusually good company of artists to present this comedy. The scenery is appropriate and the wardrobe handsome, completing one of the most pleasing productions of the season.
